

Learning Art and French at the City of Lights

To visit Paris is most people's dream. As the capital of France, and one of the largest cities in the world, Paris is bustling with life and culture. The city is also famous for its historical buildings and landmarks, beautiful art galleries, museums, foods, cheese and wine, history and culture, fashion and shopping and, of course, the Eiffel Tower.

Paris has long been a haven of artists and art enthusiasts from all over the world. Art galleries and museums abound in the city.

The Louvre is the world's largest and most visited museum. It houses more than 35,000 pieces of art works and artifacts. Treasures at the Louvre range from Leonardo da Vinci's Mona Lisa to Egyptian relics, to Middle Eastern and Islamic art pieces.

Are you planning to start taking art lessons? Or, are you trying to perfect your art techniques? The best way to do both is to attend art classes Paris. What is more fitting than learning with the experts, right at the heart of the art capital of the world?

When you look for an art school in Paris, choose a school that limits the number of students to just a few ones. With lesser students, teachers will have more time to guide each student. Also, find a school that is located near museums or landmarks and a school that emphasizes on artistic immersion in this lovely city. Some schools also offer guided tours to the city's famous attractions and places, which is a big plus. So, check your schedule and book for an art lesson in Paris.

While contemplating on your art lessons, you might also want to learn French in Paris. To complete your Parisian journey, also enroll in French lessons. The best way to learn the French culture and language is to be right there. In addition to learning the language, you will also learn about France's colorful history and the stories behind their beautiful landmarks.

Certain schools offer both art and French lessons. Check out their websites and ask if you could get a better deal if you enroll in both classes. So, start exercising your tongue, and learn to say bonjour, merci and bon appetit!

<http://www.frenchclassesparis.com/>